My issue at hand is these toddler sneakers aren't authentic In any way I can clearly see glue stains and the sole isn't like mines which are authentic I would like a return for store credit or something to return these sneakers. Stock x didn't verify these sneakers. Additionally I have had them checked by CheckCheck and other sneaker checkers and they failed. When I purchased the sneakers I was paying for an authentic shoe not these. Please return There are visible glue stains all around the shoe indicating that they aren't authentic, I don't see how these passed the verification. I will dispute this with my bank because this is unacceptable I thought I was getting an authentic Nike shoe but this has so much glue stains that's so visible to the eye. Please accept this return Sent from Yahoo Mail for iPhone On Tuesday, April 5, 2022, 11:52 AM, support@stockx.com &lt;support@stockx.com> wrote: Hey there Measha! 4/7/2022 12:02 AM	Toni Clark	Email	CRM:07980005202 Hey Measha, Thank you for your patience. I just received word from our senior authenticator that these shoes are indeed authentic. No red flags or anything out of the ordinary was found on these shoes. The shoe build, material quality, appearance of the box, size label, and overall composition of the shoes all check out with real pairs. While I understand that you are not completely satisfied with this purchase, we, unfortunately, do not have control over the manufacturer's production standards and must work with products that they have cleared for release.Glue, stitching, and slight paint variances are common in these mass-produced shoes. If you do not wish to keep them, you are always welcome to relist them back on StockX for sale. Please let us know if you need anything else. Best,
